

KACHI KACHI MOUNTAIN

穴埋めシートの使い方

- ・書籍に添付のMP3 CDの音声を聞きとって、下線部を埋めてください。
- ・左のアルファベット付き番号は該当する音声ファイル名を示しています。
- ・繰り返し何度聞いても構いません。
- ・正解は書籍の本文で確認してください。

K01	Long, long ago, an old farmer and his wife lived in a _____ place. Each day the farmer worked hard in his field. And each day a tanuki from the Mountain in Back made his work even _____.
K02	A tanuki looks like a cross between a raccoon and a dog. This animal is famous in Japan for playing _____ on people. And the tanuki from the Mountain in Back was always causing trouble for the old farmer.
K03	Today the farmer was _____.
K04	"One little _____, a hundred meals!" he sang as he pushed each seed into the ground.
K05	At noon he went inside the house for lunch. And while he was gone, the tanuki ran through the field, _____ up all the seeds, and _____ them. When the farmer came back outside, he saw the tanuki and shouted:
K06	"You little _____! Get out of my field!"
K07	"A hundred seeds, one little _____!" the tanuki laughed and ran off into the brush.
K08	The farmer was very angry. He loved animals, but enough was enough. He spent the _____ of the afternoon making a trap.
K09	The tanuki was good at causing trouble, but he was not very _____. The next morning, the farmer went to check his trap. And, sure enough, there was the tanuki. He was hanging by all four feet at the end of a _____. The farmer carried him into the house and tied the other end of the rope to the kitchen rafters.
K10	"I finally caught this bad tanuki," he told his wife. "Keep an eye on him, and don't _____ for any of his tricks. I want tanuki soup for dinner!"
K11	"Very well, dear," she said.
K12	When the farmer went back out to his field, the old woman began working around the house. The tanuki didn't say a word. But his eyes followed her every _____.

KACHI KACHI MOUNTAIN

K13	After a while, the old woman went into the kitchen and put some millet in the mortar. She wanted to make millet _____ to go with the tanuki soup. When she picked up the heavy _____ mallet, to pound the millet, the tanuki finally spoke.
K14	"Grandmother," he said in a sad voice. "I'm sorry I've been such a bad tanuki. I want to do just one good thing before I _____. Please let me help you. That mallet is much too heavy for an old woman like you!"
K15	"You can't _____ me," the old woman said.
K16	"I'm not trying to fool you, Grandmother," the tanuki said. "I'm happy to be _____ for you and the good farmer. But just once, before I leave this life, I want to do the right thing!"
K17	The old woman had a soft heart, and in the end she believed the tanuki. She _____ him and handed him the heavy wooden mallet. But he didn't use the mallet to help the old woman. He lifted it high in the air and _____ it right down on her head!
K18	Late that afternoon, the farmer came back home. He was hungry and looking _____ to his tanuki soup. But what did he find? His dear wife was dead on the floor, and the tanuki was gone.
K19	The old farmer sat down on the front step. His heart was _____, and he didn't know what to do. He was still sitting there, when the _____ little rabbit from the Mountain in Front came along. This rabbit was a close friend.
K20	"What's _____, Grandfather?" she said.
K21	The farmer told her the whole story. Tears were _____ down his face. The rabbit cried too.
K22	"That terrible tanuki!" she said. "Don't worry, Grandfather. He _____ get away with this!"
K23	The next day, the rabbit walked up the Mountain in Back. As she walked, she filled her basket with _____ of wood. She sat down to rest near the tanuki's _____ and began eating chestnuts.
K24	The tanuki _____ the chestnuts and came outside.
K25	"What are you _____, Rabbit?" he said.
K26	"Chestnuts."
K27	"Can I have some?"
K28	"Yes," said the rabbit. "But please help me first. Can you _____ this wood? It's so heavy for me . . ."

KACHI KACHI MOUNTAIN

K29	" _____!" said the tanuki.
K30	He tied the basket of wood to his back and started down the mountain. The rabbit followed behind him. Soon she began _____ two rocks together: Kachi! Kachi! She was trying to _____ the basket of wood on fire.
K31	"Say, Rabbit," said the tanuki. "What's that 'kachi, kachi' _____?"
K32	"Oh, that's _____," said the rabbit. "It's just the Kachi Kachi Bird from Kachi Kachi Mountain."
K33	"Oh, right," said the tanuki. "I already _____ that."
K34	Soon a spark from the rocks _____ on the wood, and the wood started burning. It crackled as it burned.
K35	"Say, Rabbit, what's that 'crackle, crackle' sound?"
K36	"Oh, that's nothing. It's just the Crackle Crackle Bird from Crackle Crackle Mountain."
K37	"Oh, right," said the tanuki. "I already knew that."
K38	After a while, he began to feel the _____ of the fire on his back.
K39	"Say, Rabbit, it's hot today, _____ it?"
K40	There was no answer.
K41	"Rabbit?"
K42	The tanuki _____ to look back. He didn't see the rabbit, but he saw the fire.
K43	"Help!" he shouted. "I'm _____!"
K44	And he ran toward the _____ as fast as he could go.
K45	The next day, the rabbit returned to the Mountain in Back. She was carrying a bag full of red hot pepper _____. The tanuki came out of his hole and stopped her.
K46	"Where did you go yesterday, Rabbit?" he said. "The wood _____ fire! It burned all the hair off my back! It _____!"
K47	"I went to get this _____," said the rabbit. "It's the best thing for burns."
K48	"Oh, please put it on my back!" said the tanuki.
K49	"Turn around," the rabbit said. She painted a _____ coat of pepper paste on the tanuki's burns.

KACHI KACHI MOUNTAIN

K50	"OH!" shouted the tanuki. "OH! THAT'S HOT!"
K51	"Be strong," the rabbit said and smiled. "I'm _____ you'll feel better tomorrow."
K52	And she _____ back down the mountain.
K53	The next morning, the tanuki found the rabbit down by the river. She was building a _____ out of wood.
K54	"Hello, Tanuki!" she said. "Do you feel _____ today?"
K55	"I _____ so," said the tanuki. "But last night I was in such pain!"
K56	"That's good," said the rabbit.
K57	"What are you _____?" the tanuki asked her.
K58	"I'm building a boat."
K59	"How _____?"
K60	"Well, I want to catch the big fish in the _____ of the river."
K61	"Oh! I want _____ big fish too! Can I build a boat?"
K62	"Sure," said the rabbit. "But you're much heavier than I am. You _____ make your boat out of _____."
K63	"Oh, right," said the tanuki. "I already knew that."
K64	So the tanuki took mud from the _____ of the river and made a boat. It was shaped like a big bowl. When both boats were finished, the rabbit and the tanuki _____ them out to the middle of the river. The water was cold and deep there, and the tanuki's boat of mud began to fall to pieces.
K65	"Help!" he shouted. "Rabbit, _____ me! I can't swim!"
K66	But the rabbit just turned her wood boat around and _____ for land.
K67	The sun was _____ in the sky when she got back to the old farmer's house. The farmer was sitting on the front step.
K68	"That tanuki will never _____ anyone again," she told him.
K69	The old man said nothing, but put his hand on the rabbit's head. And together they _____ the sun go down.